

EDITORIAL

The UDS International Journal of Development (UDSIJD), the institutional journal of the University for Development Studies is out with its third volume and second issue of the year 2016.

The journal continues to provide a solid scholarly platform where academics, researchers and entrepreneurs can share their research findings, ideas and experiences on a regular basis. Young academics especially in UDS searching for journals to publish their research output are encouraged to submit their manuscripts for publication to us.

There are seven papers presented in this issue – six in the Humanities and one in the Applied Sciences.

This issue consists of two sections to reflect the different subject areas covered – Social Sciences and Applied Sciences.

Our usual challenges again delayed the timely publication of this issue. It is however our fervent hope that the next issue, which will be the first issue for 2017 will be out as scheduled. We therefore entreat all to continue to submit your manuscripts to this journal.

On behalf of the entire editorial team, I wish to thank the management of the University, staff of the journal and all those who in diverse ways have supported in making this issue of the journal a reality.

Thank you.
