

The UDS International Journal of Development (UDSIJD) is out with the second issue for 2020 (Vol. 7, Issue 2). Due to some technical challenges, this second issue has been a bit late.

The journal acknowledges that despite the challenges faced due to the Covid-19 pandemic, authors, reviewers and the editorial team have worked tirelessly to make this issue a success and therefore, deserve much commendation.

A total of ten papers are included in this second issue. Four papers cover Applied Sciences whilst six are in the Humanities.

The UDSIJJ continues to encourage young academics, researchers, development practitioners and entrepreneurs to submit manuscripts of empirical research findings, policy analysis and topical issues from varied disciplines with a development focus, on a regular and sustained basis.

The Editorial Team wishes to sincerely thank the University Management, authors, reviewers and staff of the Journal and all those who in diverse ways have supported in making this issue of the journal a reality.
